Key Difference - YouTube vs YouTube Red

YouTube is a popular video-sharing service that allows users to upload their videos and watch videos posted by others. YouTube Red is a premium version of regular YouTube. The key difference between YouTube and YouTube Red is their features and benefits. YouTube Red provides features like zero ads, offline viewing and background play after the users pay a subscription fee.

What is YouTube

YouTube is a website specifically designed to share videos. Millions of users have the opportunity to create accounts and upload videos so that anyone can watch from anywhere in the world. Each minute, more than 35 hours of video is uploaded to the website. Video files are usually very large and cannot be emailed to someone. By posting the video on YouTube, you can share the video by sending the recipient the URL of the video, i.e., the address of the relevant video on the internet page.

YouTube was created in 2005. Its intention was for people to share original video content. It has now become an archive for storing favorite songs, clips, jokes, as well as a marketing tool to promote companies and their products. Viral videos are a common term used these days. It refers to a video clip that has been shared and liked so much that it has spread to millions of people around the world. This effect is like the spread of a virus. Companies have the ability to create YouTube accounts and reach potential customers and post advertising and marketing videos.

Television and film companies keep a tight control on their content and block sharing of programs. High quality trailers of shows and movies can also be viewed in High quality over YouTube.

Features and Benefits of YouTube

- YouTube edit facility will help you to create movies with music and other features.
- YouTube privacy can be used to restrict who views your videos
- Search archive to view your favorite clips.

- Comment and rate your videos
- Watch full-length files from your computer
- YouTube comes with caption and subtitle facilities. It also can take advantage of 3D and high definition capability.

What is YouTube Red?

YouTube Red is a premium version of regular YouTube. It is a paid service offers a better experience on YouTube.

How much does YouTube Red Cost?

YouTube is paid service and the subscription service costs 9.99 dollars per month.

What are the Benefits of YouTube Red?

YouTube Red comes with three main benefits

Ad Free

You can view videos with zero ads while you support the content creators. You can log into your paid account via any device and browse YouTube and view videos ad-free.

Offline Videos

YouTube will allow official download in certain countries. YouTube Red will open up the option for you. You can even download videos from your device while you are on the move.

Background Play

If you play music on YouTube, when you open another app, the music may stop. With YouTube Red, you will be able to play music in the background, actually giving you the option to use YouTube as a music player that is able to function on the background.

If you have a YouTube Red subscription, you will also be given a Google Play music subscription. This also works vice versa. This may sound like a bonus but it is a smart move to consolidate its music service. Having access to a bigger collection with a single subscription is a more attractive offer.

There is no standalone YouTube Red app. The subscription is directly linked to the account and can be used from any device that you sign in. Once the cancellation of subscription takes place, you will not be able to access both YouTube Red or Google Play Music as a paid user.
